#thenextworkplace

DEFINING THE POST-PANDEMIC WORKSPACE

FREE VIRTUAL EVENT SERIES

PRESENTED BY

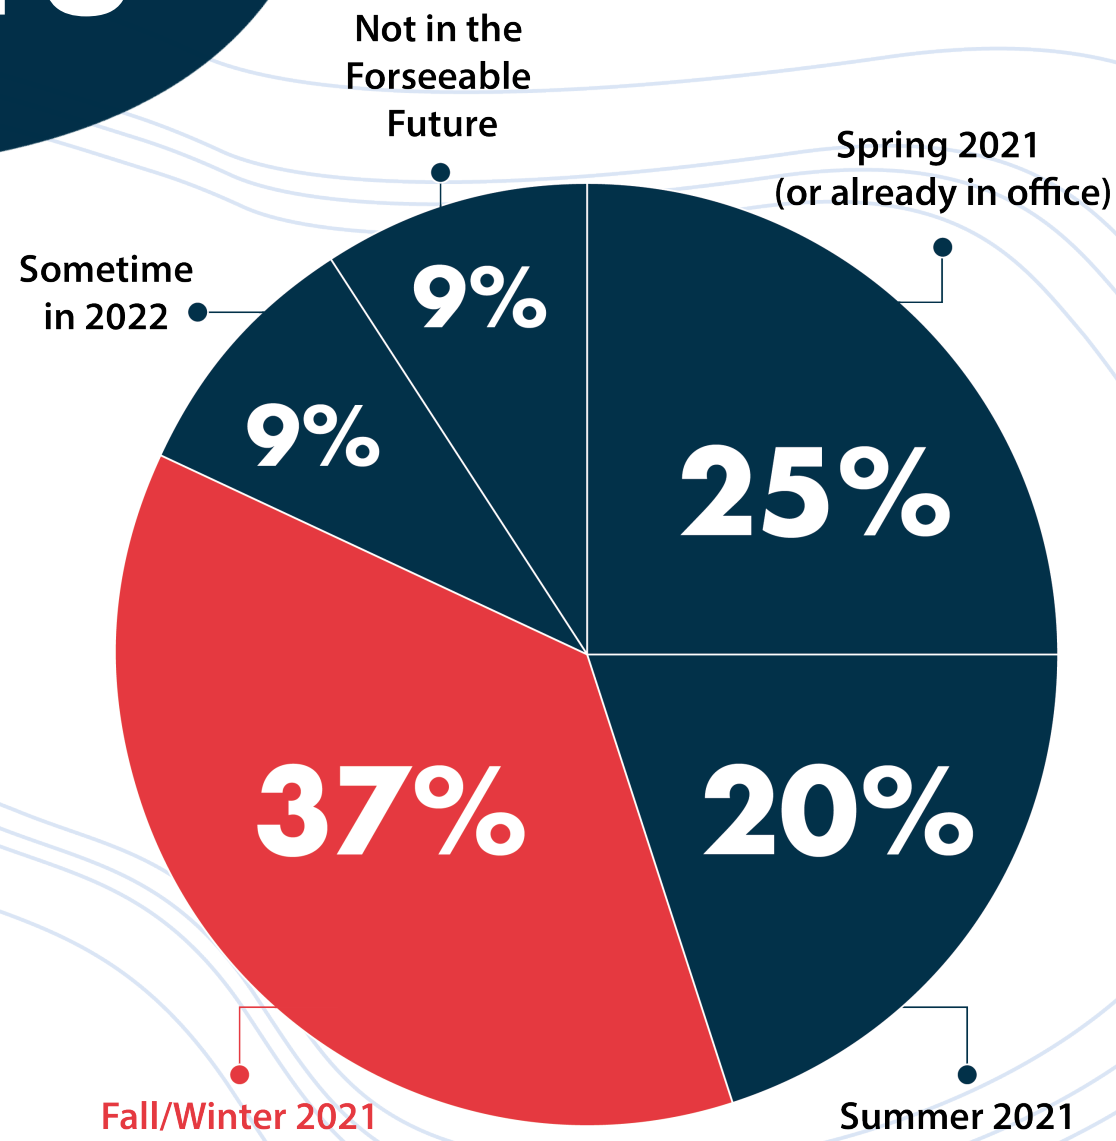
Luckett & Farley

Architecture | Engineering | Interior Design

SURVEY RESULTS

#thenextworkplace

When do you anticipate a majority of your employees will return to the physical office?



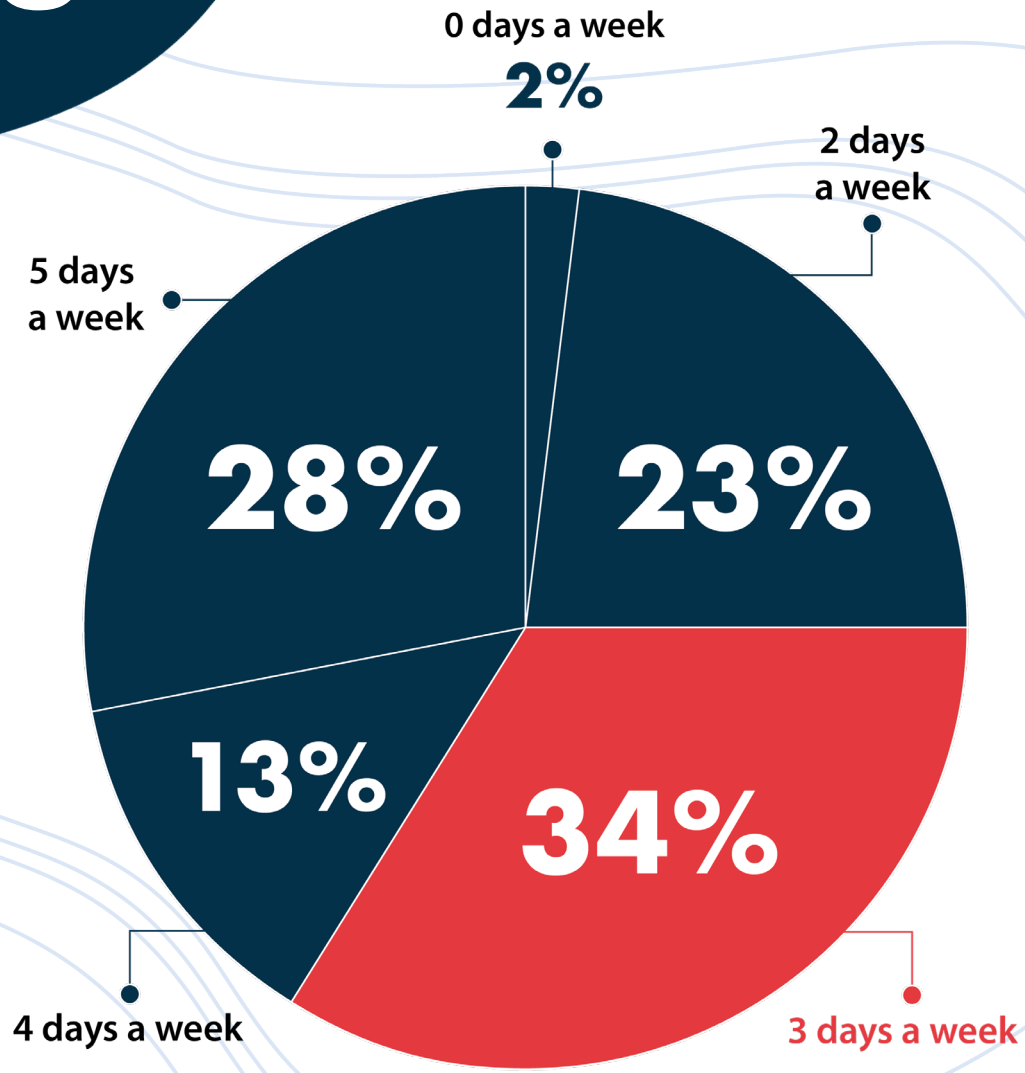
SURVEY RESULTS

#thenextworkplace

What percentage of staff do you anticipate working in the physical office when you return?

68%

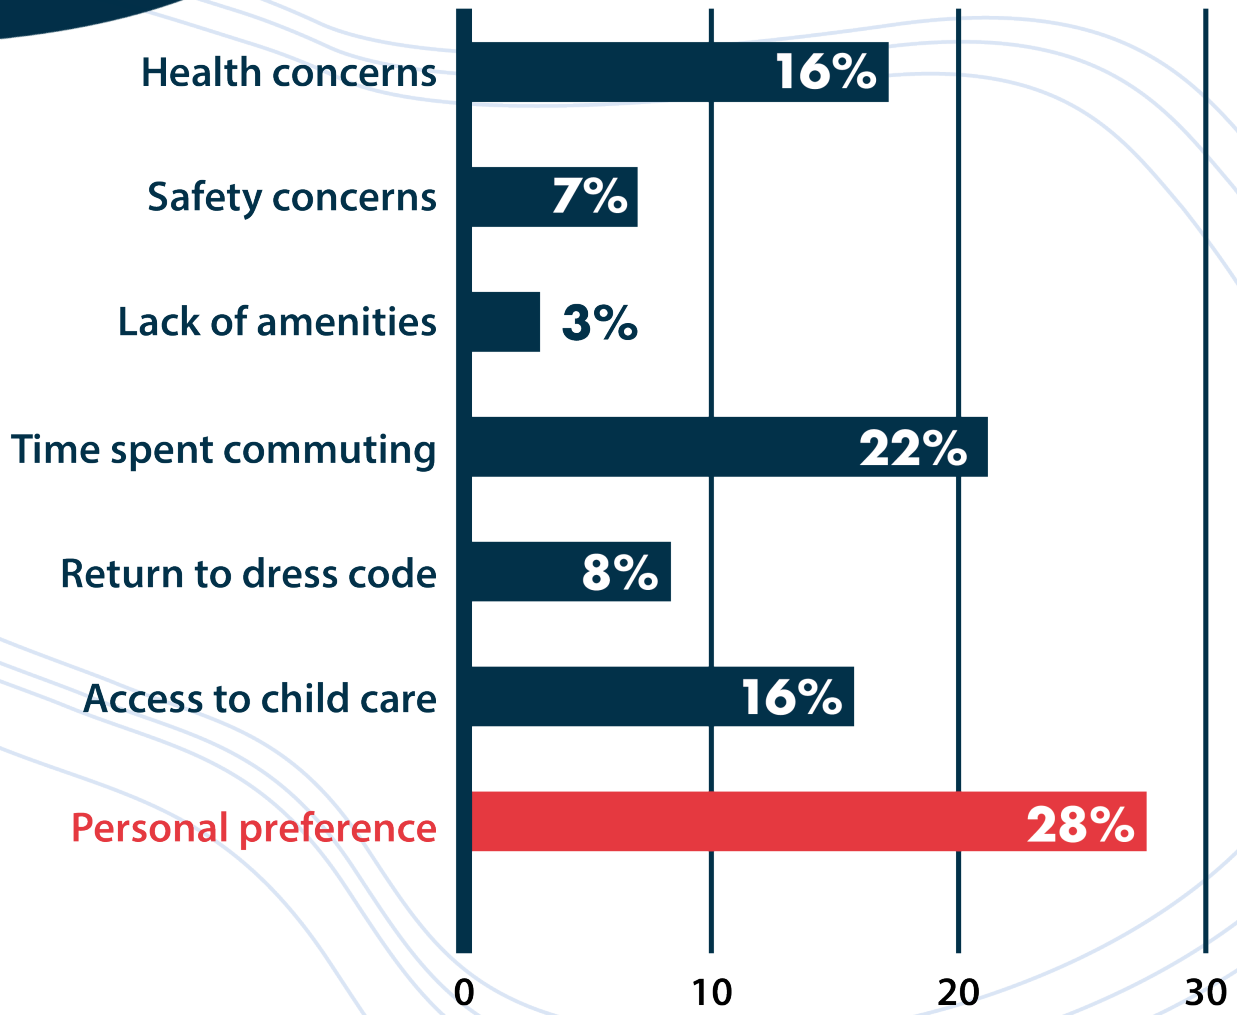
How many days per week do you anticipate the average employee spend in the physical office upon return?



SURVEY RESULTS

#thenextworkplace

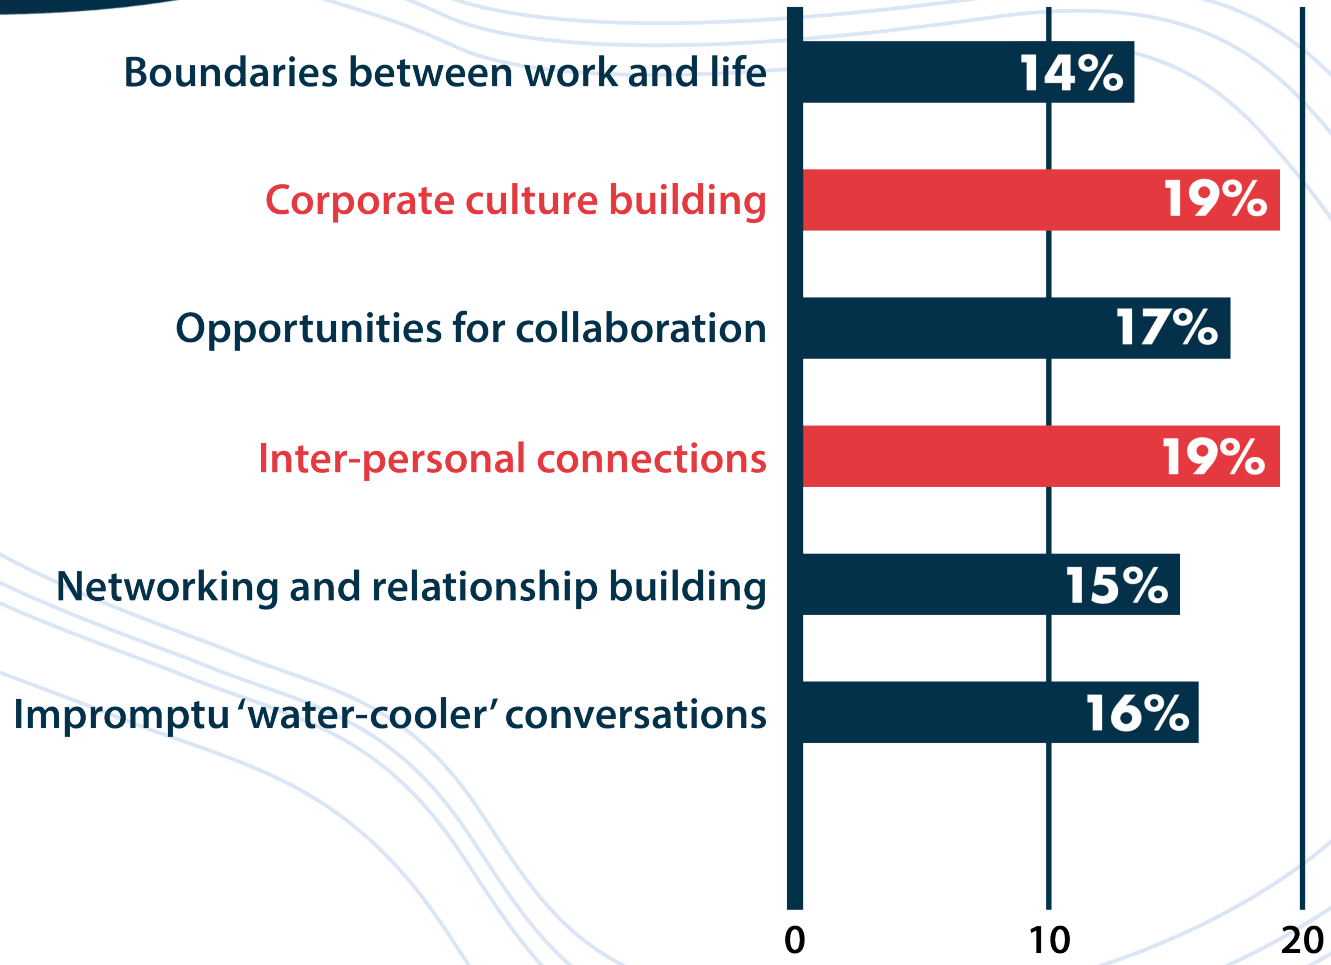
Why do you think employees will resist returning to the office?



SURVEY RESULTS

#thenextworkplace

What positives of physical office spaces do you feel get lost during remote work?



How has the pandemic changed how you see the role of a physical office space?

#thenextworkplace

- It's allowing us to create a more productive office space.
- The office space has become more of a once-a-week gathering point for culture building, key meetings.
- Indoor air quality, healthy buildings and safe indoor environments are a top priority now.
- I think there will be a larger emphasis on "we" spaces over "me" spaces.
- I now see the office as a tool and/or a destination.

What are your biggest problems to solve planning return to office after the pandemic?

#thenextworkplace

- How do you optimize space while also giving associates the freedom and flexibility to choose where they work?
- How much flexibility is the optimal mix?
- How to convince employees this is a safe environment?
- What are the best choices for our space and our people to feel comfortable and to be productive?